

1. What is the primary strength of this course?

It helps me understand and gives me good encouragement
The movies are OK, they explain all very well. All the needed information is given.
Interesting movies, they are giving a lot of information which help during the exams
It gives some background of economics and business. So I think it teaches you what happens in real life
Gives me more background about macroeconomics and microeconomics
Instructor is prepared every time very well. The level of exams, and midterms is very high. It is how it should be in other subjects.

2. What is the primary weakness of this course?

People attending this course do not have economics background; they are attending this course because there are no more courses in English
It is too much lessons for the short period of time
It is presented over a short period of time
The course requires an above average amount of work
It is hard to understand information sometimes. Instructor asking us too much. There aren't any practices to understand better the theory.
There is a lot of information and a little time to learn all of it. There is too much theory, it should be more practical lessons.
No weaknesses.

3. If you could change anything for the next semester this course is offered to your colleagues at VSE, what would it be?

It is a one-semester course
Everything is OK, just the theoretical part is taking too much time and it is not easy to understand all of it.
The instructor should take more examples, and should practice not only theory.
This is only a one-semester course
Before students sign up for this course, they should pass micro- and macroeconomics
