

1. What is the primary strength of this course?

It gives a general understanding not a lot of unnecessary details, and I think this is the purpose of this course
Very systematic, good overview of the basic questions, interesting
Learning about banking and money in English
Leading the course in English
Flexible and informal approach of the instructor
The possibility to download the textbook from the web-site
The course is clear, interesting subjects
Well prepared lectures, class website, downloadable textbook, movies
Clear, good support
Practical examples, movies, cases
Slides are easily available in the Internet
Gives useful knowledge
Provides the necessary materials
Interesting videos with Timothy Taylor
High qualification, charisma, sense of humor of the instructor
Very good English of the teacher, and clarity of his explanations
The main goal is to understand things rather than just learn something by heart
The teacher does not show a distance which causes good understanding
Things are well explained
Course is in English
All study materials are available; it defines what will be tested; logic is tested instead of facts
It is the language
Very practical + useful information about banking and financial markets
Clear view into the economy in the most widely [accepted - p.s.] economic language
Improving my economic English
Friendly atmosphere
Pretty good materials placed on the internet
Enthusiasm of the instructor
Student-oriented policy
The teacher - available and comprehensive
The materials - slides and readings that makes the lecture easier to understand
Easy to follow, everything is online
The course is clear, clever, and interesting
It's not focused on memorizing but on understanding general economic environment. Topics are up-to-date
Important English vocabulary
Basic knowledge of banking and money

2. What is the primary weakness of this course?

Sometimes doing same things we have already done
Getting stuck on one slide for too long
Not enough time to understand some difficult concepts and relations between various indicators
The movies are Uninteresting
The course is undergraduate -- so many things have been known before
May be nothing:)
Lack of time for deeper understanding
3 ECTS
It is not so many things which are new because I have had a lot of financial courses already
Not enough mathematics
More theoretical, less practical exercises
Slides are difficult to print
Students are not involved enough in discussions and do not ask many questions
Sometimes subject too difficult for students not specialized in Finance
Some issues were quite basic and known from micro/macro, more attention could be given to more complicated issues
Can't think of any
Lack of microphone
I would appreciate two hours instead of only one to try more exercises and more examples

3. If you could change anything for the next semester this course is offered to your colleagues at VSE, what would it be?

I would not change anything but I would recommend the new students to always sit in front, because the teacher is not very well heard in the back
I am very satisfied with the course, It was interesting for me
I would recommend to focus more on Czech and European banking and financial institutions and less on the US ones
To have the course twice a week - we are short of time to cover more aspects
No videos to explain certain points of the course
I would recommend some group work (even at lecture), some games, presentations, etc. to make the course more interactive
Sorry but no idea. I enjoyed this course in the contemporary way
We could have more practice during the lessons for the test
Everything is OK
Nothing:)
Worksheets to practice the material
The instructor should use microphone and slow down at difficult points for better understanding by students
Try to get the students more into the lecture, make sure they pay attention
